

For working purposes, it may be useful to divide the work into several sections which will be called books -- books in the sense that each one will develop a basic body of ideas. The provisional title will be

"Communism in Action"

Foreword:

Establishment of credentials of the author and why he is writing a book on Communism; the events I have participated in or witnessed relating to the Communist movement since the October 1917 revolution, during over twenty-five years of Federal service under eight Presidents. (This will serve to give a brief historical background for the ensuing chapters.)

Book I: The World Base, Theory and Workings of Communism - The Organization of Soviet Power and Its Alliances

Chapter I

This chapter would be concerned with what is sometimes called "Blueprint for Conquest." (Though we will refute the idea of one blueprint.) We may well draw a text from Khrushchev's - This is a splendid time for Communists (Speech of January 6, 1961). Also the "We will bury you" theme, and Khrushchev's visit to the U.S.A. They preach "nationalism" for non-Bloc -- repression of nationalism within the Bloc. This should include some reference to the inherent contradictions in Communist society and the divisions with the Communist Bloc. The "Wall" Theory.

Approved for Release

Date OCT 1999 004783

Chapter II

Soviet Decision-Making Machinery. The apparatus of the Party (CPSU) and the Government. How it operates in practice. The struggle for authority and the changes after Stalin's death in their several phases, the 20th Party Congress in 1956 and the 1957 purge of "Stalinists" etc.

Chapter III

The Soviet Management of the State Resources

- (a) The people, their education and indoctrination. Science and Technology. [Youn]
- (b) Economic and financial policies and industrial resources. (A comparison of the power-making factors entering into the comparative make-up of the GNP of the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R.)

Chapter IV

Soviet Military Base - The evolving nature of the military establishment, military preparations, and doctrine: The nuclear issue and testing. Refusal of inspection and control of disarmament.

Book II: Communism in Action - the Apparatus Moscow Controls or Works Through and the Division of the Tasks Among Moscow Allies and Satellites, Including the Chicom.

Chapter I

Propaganda: Content and techniques, and the changes rung in to accommodate tactical opportunities and shifts in interest. The Press, Radio, Television etc